Club President August (Augie) Winters opened the meeting and introduced Mr. Carl.

In a short address, Mr. Carl welcomed the new members and said he was happy to see how large the club has grown. He was greeted with applause when he remarked, "The conditions you work under must be happy or we wouldn't have so many 25-year members." He added he hopes the club continues to grow and some day reaches 1000 and more members.

Mr. Carl was applauded again when he mentioned his new position as Chairman of the Board and remarked he would remain active with the Company.

CLOSE TO HOME

It is with deep regret we report the death of the following employees in the last few weeks:

Nicola Ciccone, Pensioner. Nicola, a former Yardman, started his Ballantine career in July, 1943 and retired at the end of March, 1961. He lived at 774 Stuyvesant Avenue, Irvington.

Leo J. Malinowski, Pensioner. Leo started his Ballantine career in January, 1956 and retired at the end of April, 1963. He had been a Yardman. Leo lived at 283 17th Avenue, Newark.

Ballantine's Andy Knapp was among the first four donors to take part in the latest development in blood banking, a process known as plasmapheresis, at the Essex County Blood Bank late in May. Andy is a supervisor in the Engineering Department.

In the plasmapheresis process, the plasma is removed from each unit of blood collected and the red cells are then returned immediately to the donor by transfusion. By this method, since the donor will be given back the major part of his blood, two to four units of plasma can be taken from each donor at one time with no ill effects.

The plasma processed from such donors is rapidly frozen and used for treatment of types of diseases, especially where bleeding tendencies occur. Several hundred units of fresh frozen plasma are dispensed each year through the Essex County Blood Bank — most of which are for acute medical emergencies.

Dr. Herbert L. Goodman, Medical Director of the Blood Bank, supervised the operation.

Andy is a member of Ballantine's employee Blood Bank Gallon Club. The other three initial donors taking part in the plasmapheresis process included two East Orange policemen and a fireman.

The Essex County Bank headquarters are in the Ballantine Memorial Center in East Orange.

Three Drivers Praised in Letters to Brewery

Three Ballantine drivers were praised in letters sent to the Brewery recently. Two were commended for aiding a driver stuck by the side of a road after an accident, and the third was lauded for a community service.

The two men who aided the motorist were Arthur Hoffman and Frank DeLuca. Writing about them, although all he knew was their truck number, the motorist, Mr. J. L. McCarr said:

"This Wednesday was just another day to me and it meant the usual thing, traveling to New York to do my day's business. I was approaching the Lincoln Tunnel and I lost control of my car and side-swiped the cement pillar along the road. Many cars and trucks passed me and gazed to see what the damage was but along came this Ballantine truck and they pulled over to see if they could assist me in this moment of tragedy and shock.

"I couldn't move my car and at this hour of the morning traffic is very heavy. The two men calmly got out and helped me to straighten out the damage so that I could get on my way again.

"In my state of shock I didn't get their names but I took the number of the truck. It was 646. I offered to pay for their assistance but one fellow politely said, 'Next time make it Ballantine', and so I will from now on as you have gained a customer."

Mr. McCarr concluded with: "I feel that these two men should be commended for their courtesy and assistance and I also feel that you as a company should be glad to have such fine fellows in your employ."

The driver who was commended for community service is Ed Guen-ther. In a letter to Mr. C. W. Badenhausen, Mrs. Marcel Van Lierde, Public Relations Chairman for the Milford Garden Club, said in part:

"Ed Guenther, one of your drivers, and a week end and summer resident of Milford, Pennsylvania, can be considered one of your 'top' Ambassadors of Good Will!

"Every spring, the Milford Garden Club organizes and sponsors a 'Tree Bee'. Maple trees are dug out of the woods and planted in town to replace those that have had to be removed..."

"Mr. Guenther worked like the proverbial beaver and I am sure that Madison Avenue never produced a better public relations representative. He is known as 'Ballantine' Pete. I had a hard time to find out what his name really was.

"I am taking time to write this, as so often people only report on things that annoy them. Too, loyalty, on the part of employees today, is all too rare, and I thought these facts might interest you. We appreciated his helping in a community project we think is very important."

Married

Edgar L. MacDonald, District Sales Representative, was married on June 21 to Judith Ann Roberts at a ceremony in Scituate, Mass.

Edward Connor, Bottle House Machinist, was married on May 9 to Loretta Clark at a ceremony in Orange.

John Lewczak, Garage, was married on May 18 to Bridget Natale at a ceremony in Belleville.

N. J. BREWERS HONOR MR. CARL

Chairman of the Board Carl W. Badenhausen, right, was honored late last month with a surprise presentation as a memento of his 30 years of service to the New Jersey brewing industry. Harris Perlstein, Chairman of the Board of the Pabst Brewing Company, made the presentation on behalf of the New Jersey Brewers Association at the annual directors meeting of the United States Brewers Association in New York City. The memento consisted of two Steuben glass vase designs of the "Thistle and the Tortoise." Mr. Badenhausen was the first president of the N.J.B.A. when the association was organized in 1935 and held that post until this year. Both Mr. Badenhausen and Mr. Perlstein are directors of the U.S.B.A.

Mr. Walker holds a Bachelor of Arts Degree from the University of Michigan and studied business administration at the University of Maryland. Married, he and his wife are the parents of four children.

INDUSTRY NEWS

Company With People At Heart

The USBA News Letter reported last month on the first annual "Choir Caravan", presented with the aid of Ballantine at the end of May in Newark.

Dedicated to Ballantine

Best selling author Eugene Burdick's new novel, "The 480", is dedicated, "For Katie, Maggie, Michael, Ballantine — and an old Royal... All steady, provocative and honest."

Burdick, one of Ballantine's famous Ale Men, has written a number of highly successful books including the best selling "Fail Safe."

Ballantine Introducing "Flip Cap" Bottle

Within the next few weeks Ballantine will introduce to the trade another modern packaging development, the "Flip Cap" bottle.

This package, like the self-opener, eliminates the need for an opener. The cap is removed very easily with a simple tug on a pull tab.

Immediate plans call for "Flip Caps" to be used only on our 12-ounce no deposit-no return "Glass Cans." Conventional crowns will continue to be used on all other Ballantine beer and ale bottles.

The "Flip Cap", market tested successfully by us in Syracuse, New York, is scheduled to enter the New Jersey market later this month and will be expanded into markets from Maine to Florida in the weeks to come.

The new cap has been described by one sales executive as a "partner in convenience" to Ballantine's self-opener can, a package that has already met with considerable acceptance in the market place.

Duer, who heads Branch and Distributor Warehousing, presents plaque to Tillson's driver shop steward Vincent De Stasio. Looking on are Tillson's Branch Manager Frank McGerr, left, and Traffic Manager Tom Brownlie, right. The Hall, Maryland drivers, who tied with the Tillson men for first place, will be honored at a similar affair in the near future.

Members of the Girls' Bowling Champion "Mash Tubs" team received trophies last month from Chairman of the Board Carl W. Badenhausen, at the Girls' Bowling Banquet. Trophies were also presented to the second place "Barrel of Smiles" squad.

Shooting Awards For Della Torre

Baltimore Branch's Phil Della Torre, who has been shooting for only about 18 months, won ten individual awards last month in the 25th annual Maryland State Pistol and Revolver Championships.

Phil, whose classification is now Expert, won a first place in the 45 caliber rapid fire category, third place in the 45 caliber aggregate and fourth place in the Grand Aggregate. He also earned three third places, three fourth places and one fifth place in other Marksman Class events.

In addition, Phil shot in team events as a member of the Stoney Creek Pistol team. The team won three first places in the Sharpshooter Class.

Slyckest Shot He Ever Made

Albany Sales' Floyd Slyck, a golfer for 30 years, scored the golfer's dream last month, a hole-in-one on a 140 yard hole.

Floyd, who was playing in a foursome, used an 8-iron for the perfect shot. He is a Ballantine Salesman in Schenectady, New York.

Mixed Bowling Matches Draw 64

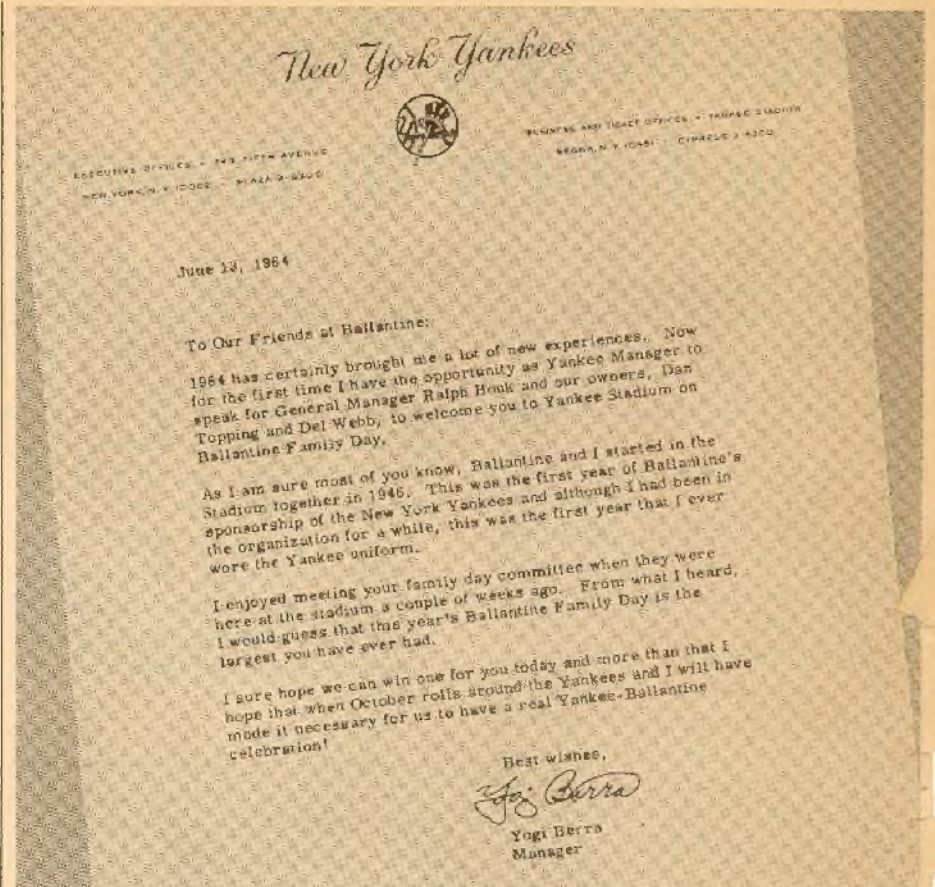

Personnel's Cameron Shaw scored the high game for the men, a 224, in the annual Mixed Bowling Matches held last month. Credit's Jo La Vecchia was high for the girls with a 161.

Real Beauty

Pretty Miss wears Indian headband while officiating at picnic setting featuring a Tote'm Home Plenty Cooler Keg. The kegs are great for parties, cook-outs, and visits to the lake or beach. They're on sale at the Three Ring Shop for $3.75 each. They hold a full supply of Ballantine with room to spare for ice.

Personal letter from Yogi Berra went to every member of the Ballantine group who took part in the "Family Day" trip.

"Family Day" Crowd Sees Yanks Beat Chisox

The New York Yankees, always obliging hosts, delighted a Ballantine "Family Day" crowd of about 2000 last month as they defeated the Chicago White Sox in a single game at Yankee Stadium.

The crowd, one of the largest in the seven-year history of the annual Ballantine outing to see the Yanks play, travelled to the stadium in a fleet of buses which left from the Brewery. Though the weather threatened, it never spoiled the action.

As in the past years, a good number of youngsters accompanied mom and dad to see the game. In addition to a letter from Yogi Berra, which each person received with a copy of the Yankee yearbook, the Ballantine group was welcomed to the stadium by a message on the huge scoreboard.

President John E. Farrell visited announcers Phil Rizzuto, Jerry Coleman and Mel Allen in broadcasting booth during Ballantine "Family Day" trip to the stadium. Mel chatted with Mr. Farrell before the television cameras while Phil and Jerry told home radio fans about the Ballantine crowd on hand to see the Yanks play. In photo here Phil and Mr. Farrell look on as Jerry talks to the radio audience.
